

Senior Revenue Cycle Analyst

Cedars-Sinai

Job Location: Remote

Full Time/Days

JOB SUMMARY:

The Senior Revenue Cycle Analyst is responsible for the development, assessment and quantification of trends and recommendations for potential root cause systematic/end user workflow solutions. This will require direct working relationships with management and key staff members, in addition to key members of Finance and Medical Center Departments. You will:

- Analyze trends to determine where variances are occurring and develop reports to assess these variances.
- Summarize information, data, and recommendations, and preparing presentation materials.
- Develop a strategic approach, and make recommendations based upon overall analysis, to effectively monitor areas of opportunity/risk.
- Assist in developing/creating recurring and ad-hoc reports for finance and CS revenue cycle.
- Participate in comprehensive denial and revenue cycle optimization projects.
- Use independent judgment to resolve issues and escalate high priority risk items to leadership, as needed.

MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS:

- A minimum of 3 years of experience as an analyst (data, financial business or related) required.
- A minimum of 5 years integrated healthcare revenue cycle experience - charging, coding, revenue integrity, claims, remittance/payment posting, reporting analytics, insurance and/or self-pay collections.

EDUCATION/LICENSES/CERTIFICATIONS:

- High School Diploma or GED required.
- Bachelor's degree in finance, economics, business or a related major preferred.
- Epic certification in a revenue cycle application (ADT/Prelude, Cadence, Resolute PB or HB) preferred.

FOR MORE INFORMATION/TO APPLY:

<https://careers.cshs.org/job/united-states/senior-revenue-cycle-analyst-remote/252/74442219232>